

Woodside woman launches local food magazine

By Kate Daly

Special to the Almanac

The words “Silicon Valley entrepreneur” usually refer to someone involved in high-tech start-ups. Meet the exception: Kerri Stenson of Woodside.

The 41 year-old mother of two is now on her third career. After practicing law and co-founding a small product business, she decided with “no experience” to become the owner, publisher and editor of a new quarterly magazine that just debuted last week: Edible Silicon Valley.

The magazine belongs to a network of 75 regional publications in North America that range from Edible San Francisco to Edible Manhattan and focus on local food, drink, and the folks behind them.

Innovators and leaders in the farming and food industries are profiled in the first issue of the quarterly magazine. “The whole concept of Edible is to be a community service to our providers of local food and drinks and the people who enjoy them,” Ms. Stenson says.

A vegetarian herself for years, she believes in seeking out sustainable, organic and healthful foods, and sees the magazine as an extension of her own interest in buying seasonal and local produce. The magazine, she says, will have ongoing stories about gardens and where food comes from in San Mateo and Santa Clara counties.

Ms. Stenson grew up on the Peninsula, attended Berkeley, and then Santa Clara University School of Law.

She worked as a securities lawyer at Franklin Templeton before taking a break to raise a family. In 1999, she and her husband, Erik, moved to Woodside, not far from her parents, Fred and Kathi de Grosz.

Ms. Stenson got involved in her children’s school, serving as PTA president, vice-president of fundraising, and vice-president of community events at Woodside School. She will be heading up the May Day Parade for the seventh time this spring.

In 2007, she and another Woodside mom, Stephanie Ashworth, co-founded Olive Smart, a reusable shopping bag business that is currently on hold.

Last summer, Ms. Stenson says, “I was in my seventh year run of uber volunteering. ... I really wanted to get back to work, to get back to doing something meaningful.”

Looking for guidance, she turned to an old friend from her Crystal Springs Uplands days who is a life coach, and that eventually led to Ms. Stenson buying the magazine.

“It has been trial by fire, just like law,” she says. “It has been a very rewarding experience. ... People are passionate in the local food world, they are really inspired and helpful,” she adds.

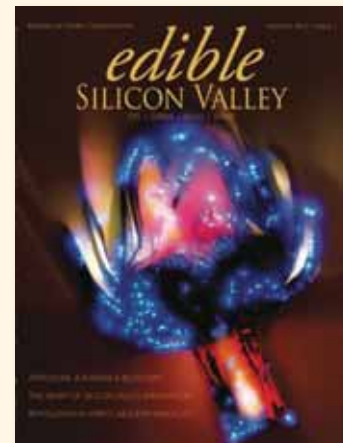

She has hired seasoned freelance writers headed by managing editor Susan Ditz, who grew up in a ranching family and has a background in journalism and public relations.

The magazine is printed on recycled paper in soy ink, and is filled with color photos and graphics on every page.

A subscription costs for $28 for four issues. Free copies are available at Whole Foods, Roberts Market, some farmers’ markets and other locations listed on the website: ediblesiliconvalley.com.

He served in the US Navy Corps of Engineers from 1954 to 1958 seeing duty in the Philippines and at Port Hueneme CA.

In 1958 Bob joined Tudor Engineering Company in San Francisco. Some of his earliest projects were the Salazar (now 25 de Abril) bridge in Lisbon, Portugal - at the time the world's deepest piers, and the Exchequer Dam on the Merced River, the tallest dam at the time of construction. He retired from Tudor as President and CEO in 1994.

Bob served on many boards and committees including the UC Berkeley Engineering Alumni Society Board and the UC Berkeley Class of 1951 reunion committees. He also served on the Board of Directors of Church Divinity School of the Pacific, the Graduate Theological Union, The Friends of the Bancroft Library and Sons in Retirement, branch 51. He was a long time active member of the Holy Trinity Menlo Park and St. Mark's Palo Alto Episcopal churches. Bob and Beth were long time residents of Atherton and moved to The Sequoias in Portola Valley three years ago. In retirement Bob was an avid traveler and enjoyed time with his family near and far.

Bob is survived by Beth, his devoted wife of 58 years, their three daughters and their families: E.V. Janopaul and Robert Messick, Alex and Elena of Mountain Lakes, New Jersey, Nina Janopaul and Bart Naylor, Elizabeth and James of Arlington, Virginia and Margi Janopaul and Marc Michel of Atherton, California. He is also survived by his brother Richard Janopaul of Yukon, Oklahoma. He was predeceased by his brother Peter, Jr. and his sister Elizabeth (Betty).

A celebration of Bob's life will be held on January 19, 2013 at 2 PM at St. Mark's Episcopal Church in Palo Alto.

In lieu of flowers the family suggests donations to the charity of your choice.

PAID OBITUARY

Andrew George Kridl

June 10, 1924 – Jan. 2, 2013

Andrew Kridl, a 46-year resident of Atherton, died on Jan. 2 at age 88. He was the beloved husband of 65 years to his wife Teddy; "Pops" to his children Barbara of Oakland, Jean and husband David Dohn of Davis, and Tom and wife Molly of Los Altos; and "Dziadzio" to his grandchildren Kate and Michael Dohn and Sam and Leanne Kridl. He was also a warm lap to his adored cats Amonasro and Penelope.

Andy was born on June 10, 1924 in Warsaw, Poland to Manfred and Halina (Meylert) Kridl. He immigrated to the U.S. in 1941 where he finished high school at Deerfield Academy. He earned a bachelor's degree at Wesleyan University and a Ph.D. in chemistry from Harvard. In 1945 he served in the U.S. army and became a citizen.

On September 6, 1947, Andy married Elizabeth (Teddy) Campbell of Ann Arbor, MI. After receiving his degree, Andy and Teddy moved to California, when he joined Shell Development Co. in 1950. Seven years later, he transferred to New York City where the family lived in Stamford, CT. Later, he worked for Diamond Alkali Co. in Cleveland.

But Andy and Teddy wanted to return to California. In 1967, Andy joined Raychem Corp. in Menlo Park. They settled in Atherton where they remained for the rest of his life. Andy finished his career as a Vice President at SRI International.

Andy and Teddy enjoyed traveling and seeing the world. Just before retirement, they visited New Zealand and fell in love with the country and the people. They bought a vacation home and returned there every January for two months. Andy also traveled to Poland most years to visit with relatives and friends.

Andy was a Life Master bridge player and continued playing until his death. He also volunteered at the Menlo Park Library for many years.

Andy is also survived by his sister Elizabeth Kridl Valkenier of New York and niece Lisa Valkenier of Oakland. Services will be private. In lieu of flowers, donations in Andy's name may be made to the Menlo Park Library or to a charity of the donor's choice.

Plans are to post a weekly blog, put out a newsletter, and launch an iPhone app. Ms. Stenson foresees sponsoring cooking classes, wine and food tastings, and other gatherings in the future.

The next issue is due out in early April.

Ms. Stenson admits it has been "nerve wracking" at times, but generally feels positive about her new venture. "I took a risk, it was a leap of faith, but I felt confident that this felt like the right thing to do, and ultimately it would turn into a profitable business."

AN IMPORTANT NOTICE REQUIRED BY THE CALIFORNIA DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC HEALTH

Este informe contiene información muy importante sobre su agua potable. Tradúzcalo o hable con alguien que lo entienda bien.

The O'Connor Tract Co-Operative Water Company has levels of manganese above the secondary drinking water standard.

Although this is not an emergency, as our customers, you have a right to know what you should do, what happened, and what we are doing to correct this situation. Our water system is in violation of a secondary drinking water standard.

We routinely monitor for the presence of drinking water contaminants. Water sample results for the fourth quarter monitoring in 2012 have manganese levels of 84 ppb in well #1 and 140 ppb in well #2 (ppb=parts per billion). This is above the secondary drinking water standard, or secondary maximum contaminant level of 50 ppb. Manganese concentrations above the standard may have an effect on taste and tend to leave black deposits in some plumbing systems.

What should I do?

- You do not need to use an alternative water supply (e.g., bottled water). There is no health risk.

What happened? What is being done?

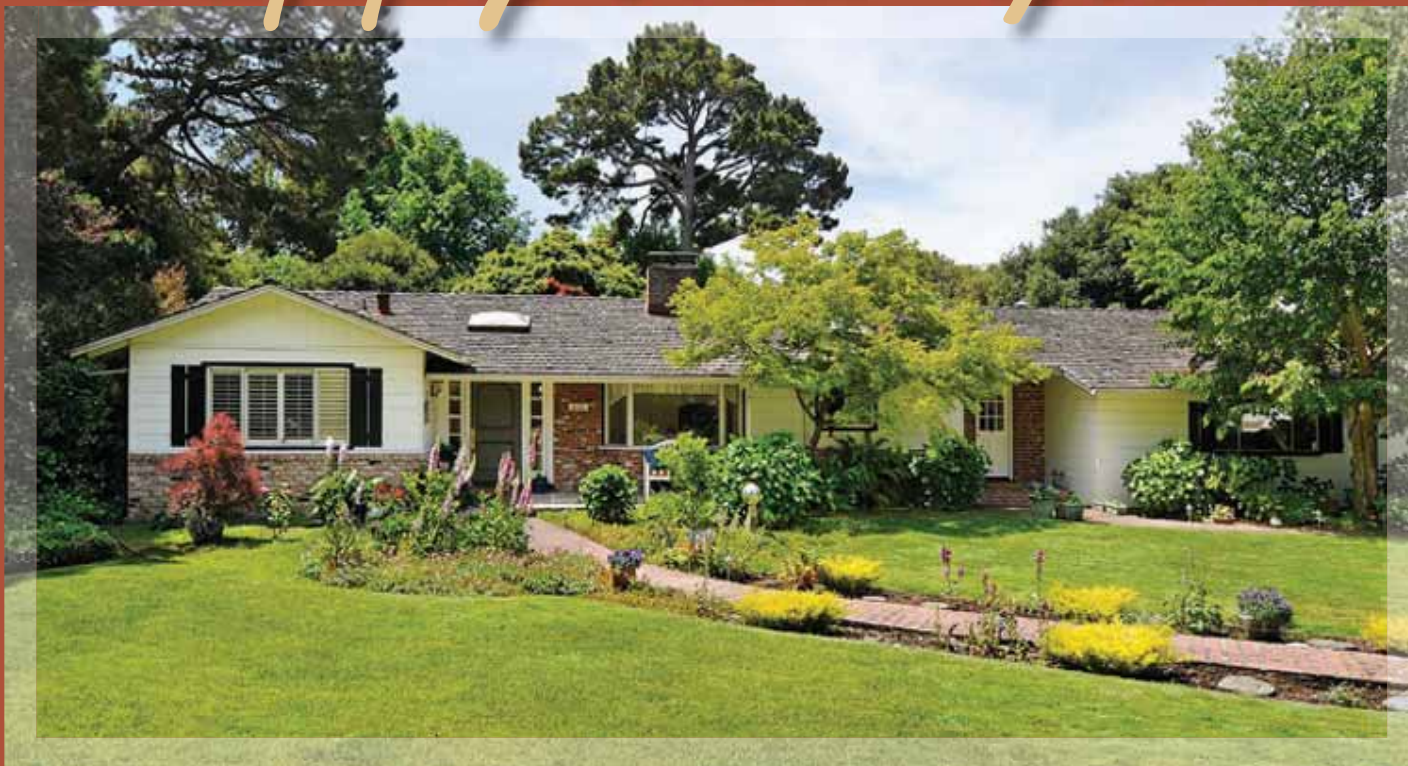

O'Connor Water has been above the secondary standard for manganese for many years, and this has been described to members in the annual Report on Water Quality Measurements. Recent state regulations have imposed stricter requirements for complying with the secondary standard for manganese. The state has issued the company a citation for noncompliance. The state ordered the company to start quarterly monitoring last February, and this monitoring was completed in September. The state also required that manganese monitoring be continued quarterly and that the results of these tests be reported to the members

The company has contracted with an engineering company to study best available technologies for either manganese removal or sequestration (adding a chemical so that the manganese does not precipitate from the water). A preliminary report is due early in 2013. The company will be contacting members to decide whether they wish to remove or sequester the manganese, or request a waiver from the secondary standard.

Please share this information with all the other people who drink this water, especially those who may not have received this public notice directly (for example, people in apartments, nursing homes, schools, and businesses). You can do this by posting this public notice in a public place or distributing copies by hand or mail.
