BRIDGING THE TECH GAP

Peninsula Bridge brings robotics, computer coding to kids from under-served communities

Peninsula Bridge kids get engaged in Microsoft's Kinect motion-sensing technology on a visit to the technology giant's Mountain View campus. On the cover: Peninsula Bridge kids visit the Microsoft campus in Mountain View to learn about high-tech careers.

By Tiffany Lam

This summer, 425 kids from under-served communities, such as Belle Haven and East Palo Alto, are on campus at seven private schools on the Peninsula, including Sacred Heart Prep, Woodside Priory and Menlo School. The students, who qualified for the program (called Peninsula Bridge) by demonstrating their motivation to learn, are taking courses to expose them to STEM (science, technology, engineering and mathematics) topics.

Peninsula Bridge, currently in its 25th year, expanded the curriculum of its five-week summer program this year to devote time to these science and technology subjects. In addition to the core academic areas of algebra and language arts, students participated in 50 hours of hands-on science, computer coding, robotics, 3D design, and 3D printing.

Resources necessary to learn in this environment, including laptops, were provided. Students also went on tours of Microsoft, Yahoo, Google, Facebook and Yelp to learn about high-tech career opportunities.

"We have a commitment to Peninsula Bridge to support their programs by introducing youth to Microsoft's work," said Thea Nilsson, Microsoft community outreach manager. "We hope to inspire local students to imagine and realize a better future for themselves and their communities. I'd like them all to return one day — as employees."

Jocelyn Swisher of Portola Valley, co-executive director of Peninsula Bridge, pointed out: "We live in a high-tech world where knowledge and confidence in STEM-related fields are now fundamental to career success, not only in Silicon Valley, but anywhere in the world."

Bridge eighth-grader Myriam Leo said hands-on science is fundamental to any subject. "We go outside of the classroom to do science and it opens our minds," she said. "I also learned that science could connect to a lot of different things, like art."

In robotics, 30 sixth-grade students used the newest robotics kits from LEGO to build and program working robots. In 3D design and printing, offered to 15 seventh-grade students, students used 3D modeling software to design and modify objects that can be rendered on a 3D printer.

In computer coding classes, students are introduced to Scratch, a free online programming language developed by the MIT Media Lab, which enables young people to program their own interactive stories, games and animations from their computers.

This is the first year that Bridge offered the computer programming elective, available to 100 sixth-, seventh- and eighth-graders at three school sites.

"It's rewarding for the students to see what went wrong with their computer program and then correct it on their own," said Ryan Reiss, a Peninsula Bridge teaching assistant at Woodside Priory.

"It's cool when you see them so engrossed by computer programming," added Jack Swisher, another teaching assistant.

Teaching assistants are high school and college students, while master teachers are recruited from the teaching staff of local schools. Many teaching assistants are also former Bridge students.

The average student-teacher ratio is 4 to 1, and the average student-TA ratio is 2 to 1.

Over the past 25 years, 95 percent of students who attended Peninsula Bridge sessions over four consecutive summers have gone on to graduate from high school on time, Bridge officials say.

The program's objective this year is to prepare students to attend college through a STEM-focused curriculum, according to Maureen Garrett, development director for Peninsula Bridge.

"By making the experiences interesting and relevant to the students' lives, we hope that they will develop an interest in pursuing STEM-related classes in high school and college," said Ms. Swisher.

For some students, this seems to be working. "The coding elective has helped me get a head start for next year," said Bridge eighth-grader Ivan. "I could even see myself coding for my career."

In addition to its summer program, Peninsula Bridge added a transitions program during the school year (from September to May) with Saturday workshops geared to help eighth-grade Bridge alumni transition to and navigate high school. The workshops cover topics like choosing the right high school, time management and financial literacy.

Peninsula Bridge students come from 30 public middle schools across San Mateo and Santa Clara counties, and reflect the demographics of communities the program is targeting, including those with Latino, African-American, Asian and Pacific Islander populations.

Turner sets world cycling records for his age group

Three national cycling records were not enough for Jim Turner. The Menlo Park resident recently set two world cycling records in the 75-79 age group at the Olympic Training Center Velodrome in Colorado Springs.

Mr. Turner's first record was set in the flying 200-meter time trial, a timed event where the cyclist gradually builds up speed over a couple of laps and the final 200 meters are electronically timed. His time was 14.100 seconds.

The second was for the 2K Individual Pursuit, a timed event to see how quickly one can ride two kilometers. Mr. Turner's time was 2 minutes and 51.420 seconds, which beat the last record of 2 minutes and 52:417 seconds set by a French cyclist in 2011.

"The rules for setting world cycling records are significantly more stringent than for setting national records," noted Mr. Turner. "A critical difference is that your head official for a world record attempt must be certified by the UCI (international governing body of cycling). It's not easy to schedule one of them."

The two-day event, called Grand Prix of Colorado Springs, was held July 11 and 12, with cyclists from 10 countries.

City launches monthly movie nights

The city of Menlo Park has started a new community event, monthly movie nights. The first screening was the 2013 movie, "Frozen," shown Friday, July 25, at the Arrillaga Recreation Center in the Civic Center at 700 Alma St.

Admission is free to the screenings, except for "Ghostbusters" on Oct. 28, when there will be a $5 charge if you left your Halloween costume at home. Those in costume get in free.

The Menlo Park movie series, dubbed "Cinemeno," is presented by the city's Community Services Department.

Initially, the movies were going to be shown outdoors at Fremont Park. However, so many events are held there that the city wanted to give the park and its neighbors a break, according to Jim Cogan, economic development manager of Menlo Park.

The other screenings are:
 ■ "Rio 2" (2014), 7:30 p.m. Friday, Aug. 29, Arrillaga Recreation Center.

■ "Monster University" (2013), 7:30 p.m. Friday, Sept. 26, Arrillaga Recreation Center.

■ "Ghostbusters" (1984), 6:30 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 28, at the Menlo-Atherton

High School Performing Arts Center, 555 Middlefield Road in Atherton. (Attendees are invited to dress in character and act and quote along with the movie.)

■ "Free Birds" (2013), 6:30 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 20, M-A Performing Arts Center.

■ "Elf" (2003), 7 p.m. Friday, Dec. 19, M-A Performing Arts Center.

Go to menlopark.eventbrite.com to make reservations, which are required only for screenings at the M-A Performing Arts Center.

For more information, call the Community Services Department at 330-2200.

Trio of local poets at library event

By Tiffany Lam
 Special to the Almanac

Three local poets will read from their work and talk about their writing process at "A Poet, a Poet, a Poet," a free event hosted by the Menlo Park Library on Saturday, Aug. 2.

The program will take place from 11 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. in the Menlo Park City Council Chambers at 701 Laurel St., in the Civic Center.

The trio of local wordsmiths includes Caroline Goodwin, San Mateo County's first poet laureate; Kalamu Chache, poet laureate of East Palo Alto; and Jym Marks, poet, musician and Menlo Park business owner.

The author of two volumes of poetry, Ms. Chache has been heavily involved in the East Palo Alto and Belle Haven communities. She has taught poetry workshops at Belle Haven School, and plans to start a series of workshops at the Menlo Park Senior Center in Belle Haven, she said.

"There is power in expressing what you are experiencing and observing in life. Art moves!" Ms. Chache noted when asked about her poetry.

"I hope to bring the message to all in attendance that poetry lives in each and every one of us," she said.

Mr. Marks lives in Fremont, but is a familiar figure in Menlo Park: In addition to being a poet, publisher, public speaker, jazz musician, Army veteran, and father of four, he is the owner of a barbershop and hair salon, part of Markstyle Enterprises, in the Willows area of Menlo Park.

This year, he is celebrating 45 years of owning the salon, he said.

Mr. Marks has published 11 books of poetry, the latest entitled "Can't Hold My Tongue in Captivity."

A resident of Montara, Ms. Goodwin was a Wallace Stegner fellow at Stanford University. She teaches at the Stanford Writer's Studio and the California College of the Arts.

The poetry event is part of the Menlo Park Library's Adult Summer Reading program, which runs through Aug. 9 and offers special programs and prizes to adult readers.

Free wheelchair-accessible van service is available for Menlo Park senior citizens and people with disabilities. Call 330-2512 for van reservations.

Go to menlopark.org/library for event details, or email John Weaver, Menlo Park Library outreach coordinator, at weaver@plinfo.org.

BOYS & GIRLS CLUBS OF THE PENINSULA

The Boys & Girls Clubs of the Peninsula offers a safe-haven where young people aged 6 to 18 are welcome every day after school and in the summer. At each of the Club's three clubhouses and seven school-site programs, trained and caring staff and a cadre of volunteers help members develop academic and life skills. Now in its 54th year, the Club focuses on academics, science and technology, social education and life skills, athletics and fitness, the arts, and college and career planning. Over the past six years, in neighborhoods where less than half the youth graduate from high school, 85% of the Club's school-site members have graduated from high school with a plan. In partnership with schools, community partners and families, Boys & Girls Clubs of the Peninsula is helping to make Silicon Valley a great place for all our children to grow up.

Guiding the youth of our community to become self-sufficient adults by developing the academic and life skills they need to complete high school and their first year of post-secondary education or training.

Community conditions in neighborhoods served by BGCP:

- More than 50% of students do not graduate from high school.
- 60% of students score below proficient in reading and 50% for math.
- Mean household income is $18,000 or less.
- Many families work multiple jobs.
- Too few affordable childcare options.
- Many parents don't speak English or have limited education.
- The expectation to attend college is not the cultural norm. Only 7% of students in our at-risk neighborhoods have a parent who attended college.
- Street violence and gangs are prevalent.

The Club offers the following solutions in partnership with schools and families:

- Safety and support for children at ten sites in East Palo Alto, eastern Menlo Park, and Redwood City.
- Extended-day learning aligned with schools that blends technology, academics, social and leadership skills, graphic and performing arts, as well as fun, healthy games and sports.
- College and career exploration programs.
- Volunteers and staff mentors as positive adult role models.
- The Club serves all interested youth; unlike other programs, all youth are welcome.

1,800 youth attend the Club programs regularly.

HOW CAN YOU HELP?

Volunteer: Contribute your time, talent and energy and help a young person to realize his or her potential.

Donate: The Club's annual budget of $6 million depends on individual, foundation, corporation and public partner support. Please support these programs that are transforming our community.

“If I want a Best Seller, I advertise in the Almanac and the Weekly.” – Lyn Jason Cobb

As a Realtor serving Menlo Park, Palo Alto, Atherton, Portola Valley and Woodside, I do my utmost to provide extraordinary service to my clients. The Almanac and the Palo Alto Weekly is always where I advertise first because I like the home delivery, editorial focus, and it is a great value. I have always had great results promoting open homes in the Palo Alto Weekly and The Almanac, and I also run in special publications like Spring and Fall Real Estate, Neighborhoods and Info Menlo because of the great coverage and online presence. I am also a big believer in the Palo Alto Weekly's Open Home Guide, which is by far the most accurate and comprehensive. I've had many buyers bring in the guide to my 'Open Homes' to see what I have listed.”

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF: MARGERET E. HEURLIN, aka MAGGIE HEURLIN deceased Case No.: 124665 To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of MARGERET

E. HEURLIN, aka MAGGIE HEURLIN, deceased. A Petition for Probate has been filed by: DENISE HOGAN KLEIN, aka ANN KLEIN, aka ANNE KLEIN in the Superior Court of California, County of SAN MATEO.

The Petition for Probate requests that: DENISE HOGAN KLEIN, aka ANN KLEIN, aka ANNE KLEIN be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

The petition requests the decedent's will and codicils, if any, be admitted to probate. The will and any codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court.

The petition requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held on August 26, 2014 at 9:00 a.m. in Dept.: 28 of the Superior Court of California, County of San Mateo, located at 400 County Center, Redwood City, CA 94063. If you object to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

If you are a creditor or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58 (b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.

Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

You may examine the file kept by the court.
