

Portola Valley turns 50

A community that loves its open spaces observes the golden anniversary of its incorporation

By Dave Boyce

Portola Valley, which was incorporated 50 years ago, is well preserved. Not in the way of a fossil, unchanging and valuable for what it reveals about the past, but in the way of a bonsai, a living thing diligently cared for over many years so as to complement its assets and allow them to be displayed to their best advantage.

The town has the appearance of an open space, with an abundance of trees and scenes of meadows and trails without much evidence of human presence.

There are retail hubs, but they're small and scattered so as to create a character that some have described as rural. The vehicle traffic belies that, and implies a particular kind of rural — one in which the open spaces are not

Portola Valley celebrates at Town Center

It's been about nine months since the first occasion for residents of Portola Valley to celebrate the town's 50th anniversary. The celebration concludes, more or less, on Sunday, Sept. 21, with several events for residents at the Town Center at 765 Portola Road.

On Jan. 16, residents Danna Breen and Cindie White started the ball rolling with the raising of an anniversary flag at the town's Historic Schoolhouse. Since then there have been scavenger hunts, a 1964-era dance and more.

The Sunday celebration begins with an interfaith service between 8 and 9 a.m. on the lawn. Between 1 and 5 p.m., there will be a playground with big soft building blocks, a concert for children, a time capsule to be filled and exhibits in the Heritage Room in the library and the Alder Room in the Community Hall.

Between 3 and 5 p.m., there will be "old fashioned games" for children at the ball field. For adults of all ages, an hour-long panel discussion on "Why We Live Here" begins at 3:30 p.m. in the Historic Schoolhouse.

A dinner/barbecue/picnic, for residents only and for which reservations are required, begins at 5 p.m. Seating at tables is available for "elders only," so residents are advised to bring their own blankets and chairs. Refreshments will include beer, lemonade and wine.

Go to tinyurl.com/PV367 to make reservations. The deadline is Wednesday, Sept. 17.

IMPORTANT NOTIFICATION

Este informe contiene información muy importante sobre su agua potable. Tradúzcalo o hable con alguien que lo entienda bien.

Dear Water User,

The Skylonda Mutual Water System has been cited by the Division of Drinking Water, State Water Resources Control Board for distributing water containing quantities of Barium above the Maximum Contaminant Level of 1 mg/L (one part per million.) NOTE: the EPA (national) standard for Barium is 2 mg/L. The concentration of Barium in our treated water varies seasonally depending on the availability of creek water. Following are the results of the most recent tests:

Jan 2014	Feb 2014	Mar 2014	Apr 2014	May 2014	June 2014	July 2014	Aug 2014
1.7	1.6	1.4	1.1	1.0	.91	.96	1.2

What should I do?

You do not need to use an alternative water supply (e.g., bottled water).

*This is not an emergency. If it had been, you would have been notified immediately. However, some people who drink water containing barium in excess of the MCL over many years may experience an increase in blood pressure.

*If you have other health issues concerning the consumption of this water, you may wish to consult your doctor.

More information on the effects of Barium in drinking water can be found at the US EPA web site: <http://water.epa.gov/drink/contaminants/basicinformation/barium.cfm>.

We have installed a pilot scale water softening system at our treatment plant on Blakewood Way, and are experimenting to determine how much barium can be removed and how to best operate the system. We expect testing will be completed in September and a detailed report will be prepared for our regulators summarizing the results and recommending a final treatment system.

If you have tenants, please inform them of this.

On September 10, 2014, the West Bay Sanitary District (“the District”) held a public meeting, during which the District’s Board of Directors (“the Board”) voted in favor of adopting a regulation that amends District’s Code of General Regulations (“the Adopted Regulation”). Pursuant to Cal. Health and Safety Code § 6490, the District publishes this summary of the Adopted Regulation.

The Adopted Regulation makes a number of amendments to the District’s Code of General Regulations (“CGR”).

First, the Adopted Regulation amends CGR Section 602 so that it contain Fats, Oils, and Grease regulations (“the FOG Regulations”). Among other provisions, the FOG Regulations feature (a) prohibitions on the discharge of fats, oils, and grease; (b) requirements that Food Service Establishments do specific things to prevent the discharge of fats, oils, and grease; and (c) an enforcement section, which describes steps that the District can take if the FOG Regulations are violated.

Second, the Adopted Regulation amends CGR Section 902 so it is consistent with and complimentary to the District’s Master Fee Schedule, which was passed by resolution of the Board on September 10, 2014. The District’s newly passed Master Fee Schedule summarizes all currently operative District fees. It also outlines some additional fees, including (a) material fees, (b) annexation fees, and (c) CEQA review fees.

Third, the Adopted Regulation revises CGR Section 904 sub-division (1) to establish a District annexation fee.

Fourth, the Adopted Regulation amends CGR Section 1012 to add specific procedures for imposing and collecting the District’s expenses related to code enforcement and nuisance abatement.

Fifth, the Adopted Regulation makes linguistic changes to CGR Section 707 subdivision (2). Specifically, Adopted Regulation: (a) changes the title of Section 707(2) to “Non-Routine Wastewater Discharge Permit;” (b) deletes the term “by the District Manager,” to clarify that a wastewater discharge permit may be required by the District, rather than the District Manager specifically; and (c) deletes CGR Section 707 Subdivision (2)(C).

The Board members who voted in favor of the Adopted Regulation were: Shepherd, Dehn, Thiele-Sardiña

The Board Members who voted against the Adopted Regulation were: None

The Board Members who were absent for the vote were: Walker, Moritz

A certified copy of the full text of the Adopted Regulation can be found in the District office which is located at 500 Laurel Street in Menlo Park, CA.

merely agricultural lands lying fallow, but are intentional and protected.

Portola Valley was born of years of effort by a group of residents who, time after time, beat back developers interested in building dense housing on the valley floor and the green slopes overlooking it. The residents incorporated as a town in 1964, which took land-use control away from the county and conferred it on a town government.

A core principle of the town, first articulated by Sam Halsted, a founding member of the Town Council, is to be an urban open-space preserve, said George Mader, Portola Valley's first and its longest serving town planner. That principle set the stage for what was to come, he said.

As important as what Portola Valley would be was what it would not be. It would not be a location for businesses, services or employment centers that were already available in nearby communities, Mr. Mader said. Any business that did locate there would have to offer services needed by Portola Valley residents.

This was not out of step with the community before incorporation, Mr. Mader said. The San Mateo County general plan designated the area as appropriate for low population density, located as it was on the western edge of residential development on this side of the Coast Range and removed from major transportation corridors and employment centers.

Fifty years later, that description still applies, despite being minutes away from a concentration of Silicon Valley industries intensely devoted to disrupting the status quo. Over the decades, volunteers in town have taken it upon themselves to do whatever was necessary to maintain the town's character.

Dealing with disrupters

It's only natural that Silicon Valley entrepreneurs and executives, whose day jobs are all about being disruptive and leading the charge, might want to echo those predilections in their choice of architecture in a community of high-net-worth residents.

Portola Valley has its share of Silicon Valley movers and shakers, occasionally including someone not used to being questioned, someone for whom the phrase, "You can't tell me what I can build," flows easily off the tongue, Mr. Mader said.

Disruptive ideas for architecture and landscaping, if any, face close scrutiny by the town's design gatekeeper, the Architectural and Site Control Commission, an all-volunteer group, chosen by the Town Council, that regularly meets on Mondays nights twice a month.

"In my opinion, the town has been very good in dealing with people to help them get what they want," Mr. Mader said. Among the important points in the town's control of home building are proportion, balance, color, reflectivity, building materials and compatibility with the site and its vegetation. Applicants appearing before the ASCC have been known to return with thanks for the panel's cooperative spirit in moving projects toward mutually acceptable designs, Mr. Mader said.

There is room for individual expression as well as good design, Mr. Mader said. "Portola Valley does not dictate architectural style," he said. "The idea is to have (designs) be compatible with the valley."

Unique circumstances

That Portola Valley has problematic geology has never been a secret. The San Andreas fault runs through the town. A photograph from 1906 in the book, "Life on the San Andreas Fault: A History of Portola Valley," shows the extensive damage the San Francisco earthquake did to Alpine Road.

This 2003 coffee table book, co-written by town historian Nancy Lund and Pamela Gullard, tells the early story of the valley, the forces that forged the community into a town, and the many and varied personalities involved.

The valley might have remained a second-home community for city dwellers, given its notorious earthquake fault and the difficulty of acquiring water supplies for agricultural enterprises. Instead, it's become a desirable bedroom community, a situation that can be credited to some innovative thinking about where it's safe to build.

There are steep slopes, but regulations have evolved to make it difficult and often illegal to build on them. The inherent penalties of such construction — excessive grading, destruction of trees, unstable ground and inordinately long roads — proved to be too high, Mr. Mader said.

"You can build safely on steep hillsides if it's done appropriately," Mr. Mader said, pointing to San Francisco as an example. "The result, however, is not the open-space quality of Portola Valley."

Ted Sayre, Portola Valley's town geologist, spoke at a recent joint meeting of the Town Council, the ASCC and the Planning Commission. Town officials and its geological consultants have an "unusually close collaboration" that has led to innovative and effective land-use approaches and planning for land use, he said.

Exhibit A is the Portola Valley Ranch subdivision, a renowned example of cluster housing designed in the 1970s on 453 acres, parts of which are seismically unstable.

When it was county land, this area was zoned for one-acre lots. After incorporation, Mr. Mader said, he and others campaigned to convince the Town Council to put aside the "one acre and two horses" zoning mantra of the time and go with clusters of homes on smaller plots that have both privacy and views.

The result: "open and airy" homes with floor plans "modified to fit around existing oaks or outcroppings of rock," as Ms. Lund and Ms. Gullard describe the subdivision in their book. Colors are earth tones and every effort is made to blend the homes into the surroundings.

A testament to the disruptive power of the San Andreas fault in Portola Valley, if one were needed, is clear in the top photo, which shows the aftermath of the 1906 quake on Alpine Road at Willowbrook Road. The picture is from the "Andrew Larson Report" on the 1906 quake. The bottom photo, by Portola Valley resident and geophysicist Sheldon Breiner, shows the same location in 2001.

Each home has a "significant view" of parts of the 365 undeveloped acres that are now permanent open space and that include the geologically unstable sectors, Mr. Mader said.

Any volunteers?

There is little of consequence, sometimes even of no consequence, that goes unnoticed in Portola Valley. That the town looks and functions as it does is thanks to the many volunteers and their deep engagement with an intentionally small government in Town Hall.

Volunteers get together or have gotten together to pull invasive weeds; to discuss bicycle, pedestrian and traffic safety on the roads; to ensure rich opportunities for children to consider nature and science; to discuss affordable housing as it relates to state mandates; to design — and raise $17 million from residents to pay for — a new Town Center complex.

That extraordinary fundraising campaign got started with a major gift from Bill and Jean Lane. Mr. Lane was considered the key player in founding the town and he was a regular presence at Town Council meetings until just before he died in 2010.

The environment is a prominent concern. Six of the town's 17 volunteer committees have an environmental focus. The Ad-Hoc Water Conservation Task Force, formed early in 2014, has a mission that is self-explanatory, given the drought. A community forum, co-hosted with conservation counterparts in Woodside, is scheduled for Saturday, Oct. 18, at the Portola Valley Town Center.

The Conservation Committee's new Backyard Habitat program rewards residents for their efforts to integrate native species of plants and animals into the daily lives of their properties. A recognition ceremony for the 2014 winners is set for the anniversary celebration on Sunday, Sept. 21, at Town Center.

The twin threats of earthquake and wildfire are also a high priority. Volunteers and town staff are deeply engaged in preparing for such emergencies. Portola Valley is literally at the end of the road and may have to fend for itself for days after a major disaster. Such threats are the business of the Emergency Preparedness Committee.

IF YOU NEED AN EXPLANATION OF THE NATURE OF THE PROCEEDING AGAINST YOU, YOU SHOULD CONTACT A LAWYER. A public auction sale to the highest bidder for cash, cashier's check drawn on a state or national bank, check drawn by a state or federal credit union, or a check drawn by a state or federal savings and loan association, or savings association, or savings bank specified in Section 5102 of the Financial Code and authorized to do business in this state will be held by the duly appointed trustee as shown below, of all right, title, and interest conveyed to and now held by the trustee in the hereinafter described property under and pursuant to a Deed of Trust described below. The sale will be made, but without covenant or warranty, express or implied, regarding title, possession, or encumbrances, to pay the remaining principal sum of the note(s) secured by the Deed of Trust, with interest and late charges thereon, as provided in the note(s), advances, under the terms of the Deed of Trust, interest thereon, fees, charges, and expenses of the Trustee for the total amount (at the time of the initial publication of the Notice of Sale) reasonably estimated to be set forth below. The amount may be greater on the day of sale. Trustor: JOSE ROMERO AND ELIZABETH ROJAS-ZAMORA, HUSBAND AND WIFE AS COMMUNITY PROPERTY WITH RIGHT OF SURVIVORSHIP, WITH A 50% INTEREST, AND ORACIO ZAMORA AND ROSA MARIA ZAMORA-BECERRA, HUSBAND AND WIFE AS COMMUNITY PROPERTY WITH RIGHT OF SURVIVORSHIP, WITH A 50% INTEREST, ALL AS TENANTS IN COMMON. Duly Appointed Trustee: LAW OFFICES OF LES ZIEVE Deed of Trust recorded 6/16/2006 as Instrument No. 2006-089949 in book —, page — And further modified by that certain Loan Modification Agreement dated 7/29/2009, and recorded on 10/28/2009, as Instrument #2009-142124 of Official Records in the office of the Recorder of San Mateo County, California. Date of Sale: 9/24/2014, at: 12:30 PM Place of Sale: At the Marshall Street entrance to the Hall of Justice and Records 400 County Center, Redwood City, CA

Estimated amount of unpaid balance and other charges: $867,377.28 Note: Because the Beneficiary reserves the right to bid less than the total debt owed, it is possible that at the time of the sale the opening bid may be less than the total debt owed. Street Address or other common designation of real property: 529 6th Avenue, Menlo Park, CA 94025-1842 Described as follows: As more fully described on said Deed of Trust. A.P.N. #:060-064-220-1 The undersigned Trustee disclaims any liability for any incorrectness of the street address or other common designation, if any, shown above. If no street address or other common designation is shown, directions to the location of the property may be obtained by sending a written request to the beneficiary within 10 days of the date of first publication of this Notice of Sale.

NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS: If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property.
NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call (714) 848-9272 or visit this internet Web site www.elitepostandpub.com, using the file number assigned to this case 12-20112. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the Internet Web site. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale.

JUDGE OF THE SUPERIOR COURT
(ALM Sept. 17, 24, Oct. 1, 8, 2014)
Proposition 65 Warning

L-3 Communications Randtron Antenna Systems operates facilities located at
and around 130 Constitution Dr., Menlo Park which uses and emits chemicals known to the State of California to cause cancer, birth defects, or other reproductive harm. We do not believe that any person is exposed to these chemicals at levels constituting a health or safety risk.
However, we have not made a formal determination that actual exposure levels are below the Proposition 65 "no significant risk" levels for carcinogens or "no observable effect" levels for chemicals known to cause reproductive harm, and we have not performed a risk analysis to determine the precise amount of exposure that any individual would receive over a 70 year period.
Proposition 65 therefore obligates us to provide this warning to potentially affected individuals. Further information may be obtained by contacting L-3
Randtron Antenna Systems at 650-326-9500 Ext. 483.

any liability for any incorrectness of the property address or other common designation, if any, shown herein.

the trustee. NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS: If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens

senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed
one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the Internet Web site. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale. Date: September 5, 2014
