

It's 45th year for Menlo Charity Horse Show

By Barbara Wood
 Almanac Staff Writer

It has been 45 years since seven women got together and decided to put on a horse show at the Menlo Circus Club to prove to its members that there was still enough local interest in horses to renovate the club's barn and to save its polo field from being turned into a nine-hole golf course.

The Menlo Charity Horse Show has grown from that humble beginning, when about 40 competitors rode in front of their family and friends, to an event which attracts up to 500 competitors over six days and is internationally recognized.

This year's show, which raises money for the Vista Center for the Blind and Visually Impaired, will be held at the Menlo Circus Club, 190 Park Lane in Atherton, from Aug. 4 to 9, with events taking place from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. or later in three arenas.

Free shuttles will be available to ferry attendees from on-street parking to the event.

While it's been 45 years since its founding, five of that original show committee — Betsy Glikbarg of Atherton, Nan Chapman of Woodside, Nancy Parker of Redwood City, Nancy Robinson of Woodside and Jane Yates of Portola Valley — are still active on this year's committee, which now has nearly 130 members.

The show, which has raised more than $6 million for the Vista Center, has more than just horses. Each day hunters and jumpers compete nonstop in all three arenas, while food and beverages are available on site, and the private club house is open to the public. Forty vendors also offer clothing, jewelry, art and items for the home, garden and stable.

A kickoff party for the event will be held on Monday, Aug. 3, at Wilkes Bashford in the Stanford Shopping Center with a gala dinner and auction scheduled for Friday evening. Tickets are $250 per person.

Highlights of the event include the Grand Prix, where winners share $40,000 in prizes donated by Bentley San Francisco and Bentley Los Gatos, on Saturday evening, Aug. 8. On Thursday evening, Aug. 6, the International Hunter Derby winners share $20,000 donated by Dr. Daryl K. Hoffman of Atherton.

Tickets are $10 a day, or $35 for a six-day pass. Those under 12 and over 65 are admitted free. Menlocharityhorseshow.org

Woodside inspires local designer's new collection of handbags

By Kate Daly

Normally the fashion industry thrives on constantly changing styles to keep it alive, so it comes as somewhat of a surprise to hear local leather goods designer and retailer Lisa Risetto say, "I'm fine with them (customers) buying one and making it last."

After more than 25 years of experience selling handbags and belts to major retailers, she is now coming out with her first product lines under the new Risetto label.

She describes the Woodside and Canvas collections of handbags, totes, clutches and wallets as functional, casual, classic, country and equestrian-inspired. They're named after "some beautiful names in our town," such as Miramontes Fold Over Tote, Runnymede Backpack, Skyline Satchel and Corto Crossbody Clutch.

Ms. Risetto, 55, keeps a quarter horse at her Woodside home and rides the trails. Her teenage daughter, Mimi Kelly, leases a horse to ride on the hunter-jumper circuit. In late July Mimi was competing in the Giant Steps Charity Classic in Sonoma while Risetto was debuting her new lines at a trunk show there.

As a sponsor and vendor at this year's Menlo Charity Horse Show in Atherton, which runs from Aug. 4 through 9, she will have a booth there for the third year in a row.

It's all part of her plan to place her new collections in 300 retail stores around the world. Locally her products are available at Emily Joubert in Woodside and In Her Shoes in Palo Alto.

"People who are equestrians appreciate the same high quality leather you would appreciate in a saddle and bridle," she says, adding it's all about "that smell, that squeakiness to them, like an old vintage suitcase."

Twice a year she travels to Milan, Italy, to handpick leather at a show where generations of Italians display skins they make using an all-vegetable natural process she calls "the oldest method of tanning."

The skins are byproducts of the meat packing industry. She prefers the cowhides from France and the lambskins from New Zealand.

Ms. Risetto has built up working relationships with many tanners over the years, and enjoys revisiting her Italian heritage.

"I always loved fashion. My mother and grandmother were both into design," she says.

She earned a bachelor's degree in textiles and clothing at the University of Delaware, where she met her "very supportive husband," Tim Kelly, now a retired Oakland police officer.

She worked for a handbag company in New York before moving west in 1987 to become a merchant in the accessories division of Esprit in San Francisco.

Next came G Hensler & Co., which she eventually bought. It now serves as the parent company for her private label company, 49 Square Miles, a label she is currently "evolving" to Risetto.

Headquarters is a repurposed warehouse in South San Francisco with 25 employees on the payroll selling about two million products a year.

Ms. Risetto designs everything. Some items feature hand-hammered brass sandblasted in Taiwan, others are accented with horn pieces from India and Africa. The jute and organic cotton canvas is sourced in China and trimmed in Italian leather.

Even the bags that look like crocodile are made from Italian leather. The skins are stamped with a crocodile pattern and then hand-stained to give the impression they came from a reptile.

Final assembly takes place in China where care is taken to wrap the handles to soften the edges, or the bag "is contoured so it sticks next to your body," she explains.

"A handbag is a very personal thing," she says, "something (owners) can cherish and that can get better over time. Buy what you really love and it'll last."

Prices on the new lines range from $110 for the Woodside Credit Card Case to $695 for the Greer Drawstring Hobo.

You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call 800-280-2832 for information regarding the trustee's sale or visit this Internet Web site <http://www.qualityloan.com>, using the file number assigned to this foreclosure by the Trustee: CA-14-651639-CL. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the Internet Web site. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale. The undersigned Trustee disclaims any liability for any incorrectness of the property address or other common designation, if any, shown herein. If no street address or other common designation is shown, directions to the location of the property may be obtained by sending a written request to the beneficiary within 10 days of the date of first publication of this Notice of Sale. If the Trustee is unable to convey title for any reason, the successful bidder's sole and exclusive remedy shall be the return of monies paid to the Trustee, and the successful bidder shall have no further recourse. If the sale is set aside for any reason, the Purchaser at the sale shall be entitled only to a return of the deposit paid. The Purchaser shall have no further recourse against the Mortgagee, the Mortgagee, or the Trustee's Attorney. If you have previously been discharged through bankruptcy, you may have been released of personal liability for this loan in which case this letter is intended to exercise the note holder's right's against the real property only. As required by law, you are hereby notified that a negative credit report reflecting on your credit record may be submitted to a credit record agency if you fail to fulfill the terms of your credit obligations.
